

Our Privacy Policy

Thursday, 14 February 2008

Your Privacy Is Our Concern

SpanishCourseware.com has the utmost respect for your privacy. We are fierce privacy advocates ourselves. For the most part we do not collect any information which can be used to identify you. Nevertheless, it might be helpful to you for us to list what information we do collect and the different ways we do so.

Why Do We Collect Information?

Our goal is to provide a site which is useful and enjoyable for many. At the very least we like to know if you found a review helpful. As you move through our site you vote with your mouse, telling us which pages you are reading and which you aren't. This information helps us make overall improvements. We are grateful to you for allowing us to do this.

What Information Is Collected?

All visits to our website are logged in the standard format, which includes your IP address, the pages you are viewing and the date and time of your visit. This information is completely anonymous and cannot be used by us to identify you.

We also use Google Analytics to perform web traffic analyses. This stores a cookie on your browser which helps us to track you as a single entity as you move through our site. The kind of information collected has to do with exit rates, bounce rates, traffic sources (i.e. which search engine referred you), how often a page was viewed, geolocations, visit durations and so on. Again, none of this information can be used by us to identify you.

Some of our pages have a feature, indicated by an email icon, which allows you to send the page to a friend by email. Activation of this feature is not recorded in any way. Other pages might allow you to share that page with your favorite social networking site. Again, we have no way of knowing if you've activated these features - this is entirely between you and your network.

When you use our Contact Us form it is completely up to you how much information you choose to reveal about yourself. Nevertheless, whatever information you do provide will not, under any circumstances, be shared with any third parties.

Further Questions Or Comments?

If you have any further questions, concerns or comments please feel free to contact us knowing that you can do so safely and without any risk to your privacy.